DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The Examiner has considered the information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 6/8/05.

Drawings

3. Figures 4 and 6 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's admitted prior art in view of Densei-Lambda (JP 2002-119058).

Applicant's admitted prior art Fig. 4 disclose the claimed invention except for using a common driver to control the first and third switches. Densei-Lambda teaches the use of a common driver to drive more than two switches. An oscillation control means (30 and 34) operating by a DC input power supply and outputting a drive pulse, a first drive means (5) for outputting a drive waveform based on the drive pulse from the oscillation control means, a first switching element (3) being driven by the output of the first drive means, a first rectifying means (9) having a positive electrode being grounded and a negative electrode being connected to the output of the first switching element; and a first coil (10) being connected to the output of the first switching element, a second drive means (15) for outputting a drive waveform based on the drive pulse from the oscillation control means, a second switching element (17) being driven by the output of the second drive means, a second rectifying means (21) having a positive electrode being ground and a negative electrode being connected to the output of the second switching element, a third switching element (36) being connected in parallel to the second rectifying means and driven by the output of the first drive means and a second coil (22) being connected to the output of the second switching element. Densei-Lambda discloses a DC-to-DC converter in Fig. 1 and 2, where a single driver (16) I used to control fourth switches. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use a single driver as taught by

Art Unit: 2838

Densei-Lambda to drive two switches (3 and 36) in Applicant's admitted prior art Fig. 4 in order reduce heating and switching loss by reducing the driver circuit number.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
